

10 November 2010

Dear Parents

Sixth Form Art Trip to ‘The Creative Process’ Conference -Monday 29 November 2010 at The University of London Institute of Education

Pupils studying Art at A Level or IB in Years 12 and 13 have the opportunity to attend ‘The Creative Process’ conference at the University of London Institute of Education on Monday 29 November. This is an exciting opportunity for pupils to hear internationally recognised artists talk about their work, and this year includes renowned Installation Artist, Cornelia Parker.

The Art Department has managed to secure tickets for this event and so the only cost to pupils is the return coach travel to London. We will be departing from school at 7.30am and returning at approximately 7.00pm. The cost per pupil is £24.00 and should your son/daughter wish to attend this amount will be charged to your next school bill.

Pupils will need to wear smart casual clothing and bring with them either a packed lunch or a small amount of money in order to purchase lunch at the self-service café at the University.

I do hope your son/daughter will take up this great opportunity to hear famous artists talk about the development of their ideas and the context of their work. In order to secure a place on the trip, please complete and return the reply slip below and the attached medical consent form by Monday 15 November.

Yours faithfully
