

30 September 2010

Dear Parents

National Poetry Day – Thursday 7 October 2010

This year's National Poetry Day will be taking place on Thursday 7 October and, as part of the events running in school to mark National Poetry Day, the English Department has organised for the owners of Hayling Bookshop to run a book stall in G2, which will be available to all pupils at break and lunch time.

Pupils will be given an opportunity during an English lesson on the day to visit the bookshop and, if they wish, purchase a book. There will be a range of books on offer.

We have arranged a safe and convenient payment system whereby pupils can charge their purchases to their school account so as to avoid having to carry large sums of money. They are under no obligation to buy anything whilst there.

We hope that pupils will take advantage of this opportunity and the wealth of experience that Hayling Island Book shop owners, Colin and Marie Telford, can offer when recommending suggested reads. If necessary, orders for specific titles can be taken on the day and these will be delivered in the following week.

If you have any questions concerning the above scheme, please contact me. My email address is m.mitchell@pgs.org.uk.

Kind regards

Mr Mary Mitchell
Acting Head of Department